

Delay in Strengthening Defense Blamed for Fall of Burma

By DANIEL DE LUCE (Wide World News Service)

CALCUTTA, India, May 15.—(P)—Two factors shaped the course of the war in Burma which so far has been so disastrous to the British and Chinese.

One was the long delay in accepting and bringing in veteran Chinese troops who, in proper numbers, would have been capable of making the Rangoon Delta as tough a nut to crack as Crimea.

The second was the expulsion of Allied aircraft from Burma bases by concentrated Japanese bombing and strafing of all available landing grounds.

The first factor decided the campaign; the second turned reverses into complete evacuation because the Allied armies had to fight blindly without aerial reconnaissance.

This opinion comes from high officers—British, Chinese and American.

By the maximum use of an army authoritatively estimated not to exceed four divisions and an air force probably not over 450 planes, Japan drove a massive wedge from the Bay of Bengal nearly to the borders of Tibet in an amazing four-month campaign that practically separated two of her greatest foes and made their territories mere islands of resistance.

What the Japanese won in four months would be cheap at almost any price, but they actually got it at small cost.

Opposing them in the first half of the campaign were two Imperial divisions combined with an RAF and an AVG force of less than 150 aircraft.

These facts may now be told, since the information no longer is of military value.

Burma was more poorly prepared for war than Malaya and Java. Even so, with great reserves of Allied manpower nearby in China and India, if Burma could have been held it would have been a springboard for a United Nations offensive squarely across the line of Japanese expansion in the South Pacific.

Sometime in December the United Nations strategy went awry. Enthusiasts envisioned at that time huge Chinese armies streaming into Burma immediately. But they did not arrive. Native Burmese ministers protested against possible entrance of the Chinese.

Turbulent Burma, where revolt and mutiny and sedition had written a bloody history in the past decade, was a violent political problem to the British Empire. Chungking's offer to share the defense of lower Burma and Rangoon was tentatively rejected.

While battle-tested Chinese regulars stood a thousand miles away in Yunnan Province, a few battalions of Burma Rifles—raw, uncertain native levies—were all that guarded the long Tennessean coast across the little gulf of Martaban from Rangoon.

These Burma Rifles looked good on the parade ground. They saluted smartly and wore their bush hats at a rakish angle. But neither they nor their British officers who were territorial volunteers from colonial industrial business firms knew much about jungle warfare. It wasn't in the textbooks. All they had seen of tommyguns was in American gangster movies.

Many might have proved effective under different conditions, but when the Japanese regulars sallied across the Thai border

BURMA FALLS: Weary British Escape Jap Trap

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

One of my friends who uses the penny boxes of matches to light his cigarettes, has called my attention to the fact that only one side of the box is spread with the special preparation on which to strike the matches, instead of both sides as heretofore.

"I guess it is the war," he said resignedly, "and after all one striking side is enough."

For the first time since Uncle Sam took possession of the Philippine Islands, it is impossible to send mail to any of them, due to the present Jap occupation. But some of these days mail service will be resumed when Uncle Sam uses his good right boot in kicking the Jap clear across the waters into his home land once more, and then seeing that he stays put.

My attention to the "no mail" comes in the following notice from Postmaster W. E. Passmore: "Effective at once, and until further notice, the U. S. mail service to the Philippine Islands is suspended. No mail matter of any kind addressed to those islands shall be accepted or dispatched."

That the three score women who form the Elmwood Ladies' Aid Society are backing Uncle Sam and the boys at the front in winning the war, is fully attested by action of the society at its meeting Thursday, held at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Powless.

They voted unanimously to purchase a $100 war bond, and this was done Friday, by the treasurer, Mrs. Gilbert Hook.

The Elmwood Ladies' Aid is composed of women from several of the churches, and has been active for years, doing some notable work in the community.

The example of the Elmwood society is one which will probably be followed by many other organizations, and shows the true spirit in the present great world crisis in which America herself is fighting for her very existence.

Mrs. A. B. Murray is president of the Elmwood Society, Mrs. Floyd Tracey is vice president and Mrs. Harley Stackhouse is secretary.

With his ribs plainly marked and his pace slow, a dog that had been left in Greenfield, by a John Street resident nearly two weeks ago, appeared at the home of his master here Wednesday, nearly starved.

The dog had accompanied his owner to Greenfield, was left in the parked car, but decided he would get acquainted in the neighborhood, so when his master returned to the car and endeavored to locate him, the dog was nowhere to be found.

Apparently guided by the sense of direction, the dog finally returned home, and it was apparent that he had eaten little or no food since he disappeared.

BULLETIN

NEW DELHI, India, May 15.—(P)—British forces retreating up the Chindwin River Valley of Burma toward the Indian frontier have extricated themselves from their dangerous situation, it was said officially today.

(By The Associated Press)

Climaxing a bloody five-month battle against hopeless odds, the last weary remnants of the British army in Burma have crossed into Manipur state in eastern India, it was reported today, while the Vichy radio declared Japanese troops had advanced 80 miles into India along the Bay of Bengal.

The Vichy broadcast quoted vague and unconfirmed reports that the invaders had reached a point within 16 miles of Chittagong, only 210 miles from the great Indian metropolis of Calcutta.

The withdrawal of the last British force, estimated at 5,000 men, followed a dogged retreat from the bomb-ridden city of Mandalay and a Japanese thrust which separated the British from their Chinese allies commanded by the American Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

At last reports, Gen. Stilwell's forces were stubbornly resisting a Japanese advance up the Burma Road some 125 miles into China proper.

In eastern China, a Tokyo broadcast credited Japanese forces with inflicting a heavy defeat on the main body of the 22nd Chinese division in a battle

Wounded Yanks Back in Australia From Victory in Coral Sea Battle

SYDNEY, Australia, May 15.—(P)—Three sailors at a hotel bar drank slowly, thinking of things far away.

Suddenly, glass tinkled. The men had broken their drinking glasses in unison.

"What did you do that for?" belligerently asked the hotel keeper.

"You'd better go away. We're toasting comrades who didn't come back."

That terse reply ended the incident—and disclosed that the first men who fought the battle of the Coral Sea were back from what might have been the great naval action since Jutland.

The returning men arrived unheralded and no one met them except hospital attendants.

Most of the first arrivals were casualties of the sea fight. They were taken to an Allied hospital many miles inland.

Some walked only with assistance. Others were carried on stretchers. Two men carried in were swathed in bandages.

Others were shielded only by blankets. Some showed evidence of severe burns. It was a slow, sad procession but some men waved an unbandaged arm or hand to hospital nurses on a nearby balcony.

A few men who came through unscathed were given shore leave—and that was how the three at the bar broke the news that the first men were back from the Coral Sea triumph.

BOY IS RESCUED AFTER 13 HOURS

Caught in Tunnell with 1,500-Pound Boulder Pinning Legs Down

PORTLAND, Ore., May 15.—(P)—Alive but injured critically, 16-year-old James Harper was removed today from a rock tunnel in which he had been pinned for 13 hours.

Strapped to a stretcher, he was passed down a long line of men and taken to a hospital.

The boy had lain under a shaly arch of rocks, with a 1,500-pound boulder on his lap pinning his legs. For hours after the slide he had joked with rescuers. He was released at 6 A. M. Pacific War Time.

Since 5 P. M. (Pacific War Time) yesterday the Hill Military Academy student from Yakima, Wash., lay in a tunnel-like aperture formed by rocks which had fallen from a sheer cliff of Rocky Butte, on which the Academy is located.

He was trapped there when the rocks closed the hole—fabled to Academy students—75 feet from its entrance, two companions crawled to safety. One, William Mahan, 18, son of a Fort Lewis hostess, said the three were exploring one of the many openings into the rocks when a sudden slide trapped Harper.

Ration Book May Be Used On Gasoline

COLUMBUS, May 15.—(P)—Those rationing coupons issued for sugar purchases might be needed one of these days to keep gasoline in the family automobile, Ohio officials asserted today.

"We've been expecting gasoline rationing for some time but haven't had any definite word, one rationing official declared. He added that only the first four stamps in war ration book No. 1 had been designated for sugar purchases and that others could be used for gasoline.

Gasoline consumption would be limited in Ohio to conserve tires and decrease highway wear rather than because of any shortage, a spokesman for state rationing headquarters declared.

Congressmen reported in Washington, meanwhile, there were strong indications that nationwide motor fuel rationing might be instituted by July 1.

Tire and motor vehicle rationing reduced Ohio highway traffic 17.44 percent last month as compared with April, 1941, Highway Director Hal G. Sours reported. Motor fuel taxed in the first three months of this year totaled 322,119,394 gallons, an increase of 1,191,687 over the same period in 1941.

NEWSPAPER EDITOR CRITICIZES CRITICS

President, He Says, Is No Longer Political Game

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 15.—(P)—Editor Paul Bellamy of the Cleveland Plain Dealer contends that two percent of the nation's newspapers are retarding the war effort.

Accepting a University of Missouri award to the Plain Dealer for distinguished service in journalism, Bellamy asserted yesterday that "the two percent" would be responsible if free speech is curbed in America.

The editor, recalling that the Plain Dealer was Republican in the 1940 election, declared President Roosevelt no longer is a member of any political party, but rather of all parties.

"God bless Roosevelt," he said in closing.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(P)—Mrs. William P. Hobby of Houston, Texas, today was appointed director of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps by Secretary of War Stimson as President Roosevelt directed that the new organization be limited to 25,000 members now.

The President signed the legislation passed this week by Congress, authorizing a corps of up to 150,000 women volunteers for non-combatant service, and issued an executive order directing that in the first step toward organization not more than 100 units be established and that the enrollment be no more than 25,000.

Worry over War Drives Farmer Crazy; Bludgeons Family and Then Suicides

ATHENS, May 15.—(P)—A farmer, worried about the war, killed his eight-year-old daughter, bludgeoned his wife and two other daughters with an ax and then shot himself fatally, Sheriff George Bateman reported today.

The dead: Charles C. Hawk of New Marshall, west of here, and his daughter, Carol Ann.

Brought to a hospital here unconscious were: Mrs. Margaret Hawk, 28, and her daughters, Betty, 9 and Willow Jean, 5. All were believed suffering from fractured skulls.

Bateman said the tragedy apparently occurred thus:

Hawk beat each member of his family with the flat side of an ax as they slept in their four-room home during the night.

The farmer then went to the home of his father-in-law, Charles Brickles, about five miles distant. Brickles operates a gasoline service station and grocery, living in upstairs quarters.

Brickles said Hawk awoke him by shouting about 5:30 A. M., but that he thought it had a motorist wanting gasoline. When he was about to go down

RUSSIANS AIM DRIVE AT KHARKOV

As German forces continued their drive toward Kerch (B), Russian troops under the personal leadership of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko launched one of their greatest assaults of the war on the Nazi defenders of Kharkov (A), key city of the Ukraine.

Soviets Admit Forces in Chimea Withdrawing To New Positions

By ROGER D. GREENE (By The Associated Press)

Led by American-made tanks, Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's armies were reported to have advanced seven miles beyond the Donets River today in their big offensive against Kharkov, the Soviet "Pittsburgh," after smashing more than 150 German tanks in two days.

In the Crimea, Hitler's field headquarters asserted that Russian defenders of the heights before Kerch, short cut to the great Caucasus oil fields, had been driven back and that German-Rumanian columns were at the gates of the town.

The Nazi communique mentioned that fighting was continuing in the battle for Kharkov.

Soviet front-line dispatches said the Red armies steadily were pressing forward, crushing Nazi counterattacks, capturing a number of nearby communities, and advancing over roads littered with hundreds of German bodies, smashed tanks and cannon.

Red Star, the Russian Army newspaper, said the battle was "another heavy defeat" for the Germans, who have held Kharkov since last October.

The newspaper said both sides threw in powerful tank forces and that Soviet tanks forced a

MEXICAN SHIP SUNK BY AXIS SUBMARINE

Efforts to Preserve Neutral Status Strained

MIAMI, Fla., May 15.—(P)—Mexico's efforts to preserve neutrality in the present war were strained today after an Axis submarine stalked at night a fully-lighted oil tanker and sent a torpedo crashing into the illuminated Mexican flag painted on her side.

Thirteen men died, including the captain and deck officers.

In Mexico City, the government addressed a note to Germany, Italy and Japan last night demanding "complete satisfaction and a guarantee of damage reparations" by May 21, threatening otherwise to "take a position in accordance with Mexican honor."

It was the first Mexican ship to be lost in this war.

MINE IS TOWED ASHORE BY FLORIDA FISHERMAN

TAVERNIER, Fla., May 15.—(P)—A fisherman, believing he had a lost navigation buoy atow, hauled a floating mine ashore in the Florida Keys near here yesterday, Peace Justice Ed Lowe reported. He said a demolition expert later rendered the explosive harmless, and it was towed back to sea and sunk.

JAPS TO BOMB CHINA TO BALK U. S. ATTACK

New Policy Revealed in German Broadcast

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), May 15.—(P)—A DNB dispatch from Nanking quoted a spokesman of the Japanese army today as saying its main task force is "to destroy again and again all Chungking airports in the Chinese eastern provinces" to shield Japan from air attack.

(These airfields are principally in Chekiang and Kiangsi provinces.)

This process must be continued, he said, until airmen in the service of Chungking are forced to capitulate because of the lack of fuel and material.

"Chungking is obviously hoping to be able to bomb Formosa and the Japanese islands with the aid of United States pilots who so far have escaped annihilation," the Nanking dispatch said.

GERMAN OFFICER FAILS IN THIRD ESCAPE DASH

TORONTO, May 15.—(P)—Failing in his third attempted escape, Lieut. Frederick Oeser, one of two German air force officers who fled the Bowmanville prison camp 40 miles east of here yesterday, was captured today by police at the union station here.

His companion in the escape, who has not been caught, was Lieut. Everard Wildermuth.

SAFETY ESSAY WINNERS ARE GIVEN AWARDS

Virginia Bidwell Has Best In City and County and Gets $50 in Cash

Virginia Bidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Bidwell, of Van Deman Street, today was the proud possessor of $50 in cash and the distinction of having written the best essay in the city and county on the subject of "How To Make Our Streets and Highways Safer."

She was awarded the grand prize in the contest conducted by the State Automobile Mutual Insurance Co. in the city and county schools at a ceremony held in the office of W. J. Hilty, superintendent of the county school system, in the Courthouse Thursday afternoon.

Virginia, a student in the Washington C. H. High School, said she intended to invest the $50 prize money in a War Savings Bond.

At the same time awards were presented to 14 other pupils—seven in the city and seven in the rural and village schools. The winner in each district received War Bonds and the second placers in the districts were given radios. The others all received a pair of roller skates.

Superintendent A. B. Murray made the presentations to the city school pupils and Supt. Hilty presented the prizes to the pupils in the village and rural schools. Each made a few appropriate remarks and Supt. Hilty took the occasion to announce an award for Jane Sollars of Wayne High School as the result of state test achievements.

Betty Hard, secretary to Sam Parrett, the local agent of the company was introduced as "the efficient secretary who handled the contest." Parrett is in a Columbus Hospital recuperating from an operation. He entered the hospital only a few days after the contest started.

Representatives of the company declined to release for publication the prize-winning essay.

The essays were judged, company officials said, by judges from Ohio State University.

Here are the winners: CITY SCHOOLS—Virginia Bidwell, $50; Karl Harper, Bond; Joan Wilson, radio; Bobby Speaks, skates; Marie Marchant, skates; Judith Paul, skates; Billy Chapman, skates; and Dorothy H. Hard, skates.

FUNERAL TO BE SATURDAY FOR MRS. LILLIE BREECH

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillie Breech, who died Thursday morning at the Leath Rest Home, will be held at the Hook Funeral Home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Dr. J. Roby Oldham, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, is to conduct the services. Interment is to be in the Washington Cemetery.

OLD SUB MAKES GOOD LONDON, May 15.—(P)—The British submarine Thetis, which sank in Liverpool Bay with a loss of 99 lives during a trial run in 1939 and subsequently was raised and re-named the Thunderbolt, is making a good record fighting for her country.

EAGLES CELEBRATE BLUE RIBBON GOAL

Over 225 New Members Are Added This Year

Fayette Aerie of Eagles celebrated the campaign to place them in the Blue Ribbon quota class, Thursday night, with a roast beef supper, attended by over 300 members of the local lodge and from several surrounding Aeries.

Following the supper a social evening was enjoyed with orchestral music, the celebration closing with a floor show which delighted everyone.

So far this year the new members obtained have passed the 225 mark, officers said, and still others are to be obtained later.

The large number of new members placed the Aerie in the top class of blue ribbon aeries.

DELAY IN STRENGTHENING DEFENSE IS BLAMED FOR FALL OF BURMA TO JAPS

On January 14 for Tavoy they broke and retreated rapidly. Around Moulmein three Burma battalions made a brief stand, their nerves worn thin by the continual imitation attacks the Japanese staged with packages of firecrackers tossed close to the defenders' positions.

On the last day of January the real assault began on the wide estuary of the Salween at the back of the Burma Rifles. They retreated. The Japanese had bought the 400 miles of Tensan coast line in a military bargain sale and were directly menacing Rangoon.

In February one Chinese brigade magically appeared in the Shan states, hiking there on foot. One crack division of the Indian Army docked in Rangoon and was rushed overnight by train to the Salween River line. More than a month was to elapse before the Japanese broke into Rangoon on March 8, but in all that time not a single Chinese trooper was sent southward from the Shan states.

Observers agreed that an Indian Army division, if helped out by equal number of Chinese, could have kept the Japanese pinned at the Salween indefinitely and have raided Thailand.

In the skies over Rangoon the brilliant defensive exploits of the AVG were almost the only solace in the situation which continued steadily to deteriorate.

British fighters did their best and bravest, but they couldn't keep pace with the AVG. The pilots had had less flying time and they were not trained in Japanese tactics as that old China hand, Colonel C. L. Chennault, had trained his American volunteers.

What the Allies could have done then with the large American army air force now in India makes a bitter item in the war's list of "might have beens."

Because of the inadequate number of troops which were poorly equipped for jungle fighting, British army tactics were confined to a defense of line positions. This was done tenaciously.

No sudden offensive attacks by strong patrols menaced the Japanese rear. The British troop positions were static. The enemy gathered his forces at key points and encircled them and continually forced the British to move back their whole line.

When the Japanese gained Sitang they were practically at the gates of Rangoon. Some 120 American tanks, rushed from the middle east, were hurried against them in the Pegu salient, but the paddy fields and thick jungles destroyed their mobility.

Those tank crews, stout-hearted fighters, defied the Japanese artillery ambuscades and were nonchalant under the toughest kind of strafing from the air.

Although the British announced to the press in mid-February that they intended holding Rangoon, the fire-gutted and looted capital was occupied by the Japanese on March 8 while the British army was scattered along a road 20 miles to the north.

The Allied military collapse was revealed suddenly in mid-April. The British army's remnants of the Burma division, falling back on the plains of Mandalay, became encircled, while the war-worn Indian division pursued a different route ten miles eastward along the rail line and was unable to come to its assistance.

A few hundred airplanes and a few thousand more troops might have meant the difference between victory and disaster.

BRITISH RETREAT FROM BURMA INTO INDIA AS AUSTRALIA THREATENED

17 miles northwest of Kulsien, in central Hopeh province. Battle of Australia

In the battle of Australia, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that long-range Allied bombers again heavily pounded Japanese ships in the harbor of Rabaul, New Britain, and scored a smashing victory over enemy fighters which tried to intercept them.

A communique said gunners in the big bombers—presumably including giant American Flying Fortresses—shot down seven of 17 Japanese planes attacking them. All Allied planes returned safely.

Other United Nations bombers raided the Japanese seaplane base in the Louisiade Archipelago, off the southeast coast of New Guinea, sinking an enemy seaplane and leaving shore targets in flames.

A notable increase in Japanese land-based air strength on New Guinea and New Britain was indicated today with disclosure that 35 planes participated in one of two raids on Port Moresby yesterday and that Allied attacks on the Japanese bases were meeting considerably stronger opposition.

The raids on Port Moresby, first by 13 fighter planes and then by 26 bombers and nine fighters, were declared to have hit not a single worthwhile objective, but the larger number of planes was taken as an indication that the Japanese were willing to pay a high price to prevent use of that southern New Guinea city as an Allied air base.

Japanese Handshake Japan's puppet state of Manchukuo has ratified an agreement with Russian-sponsored Outer Mongolia to end the prolonged border dispute which flared into open warfare three years ago, a Tokyo broadcast announced today.

Thus Japan, through her vassal, sought to give the impression that her intentions toward Russia are peaceful.

While the dispute ostensibly was between Manchukuo and Outer Mongolia, most of the actual fighting has been between forces of the two protecting powers.

In one frontier battle lasting several weeks, the Japanese admitted losing 18,000 casualties.

In the event of war between Japan and Russia, the Japanese would probably direct their main attack against Soviet Siberia—chiefly against Vladivostok—but a secondary flanking thrust would probably come from Manchukuo into Outer Mongolia.

Meanwhile, DNB, the German news agency, reported that the Japanese navy launched two new 45,000-ton battleships and four 35,000-ton battleships last year and will launch three more battleships of unspecified size this year.

HARRY LANDRUM DIES AT HOME OF SISTER

Funeral Service To Be Held Monday Afternoon

Henry Landrum, 67, died at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Estel on Elm Street at 3 o'clock Friday morning.

He is survived by three sons, Earl, Arthur and Thomas Landrum, a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Orihood all of whom live in Washington C. H. He also leaves two brothers, Harley and Charles Landrum, who live here, and two other sisters, Mrs. Viola Drosselmeyer of Cincinnati and Mary Wuerth, city.

Funeral services are to be held at the Church of Christ in Christian Union on Gregg Street at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in charge of Rev. Frank Sollars. Friends may call at the Cox & Parrett Funeral Home until the hour of the funeral.

REDS SMASHING GERMAN DEFENSES NEAR KHARKOV WITH U. S.-MADE TANKS

water barrier, split the Germans' troop concentration and drove a wedge into the enemy defenses. "Then our infantry moved into the breach and consolidated the occupied positions," Red Star said.

Military dispatches said the Russians, attacking on a 35-mile front, were now only 20 miles from the heart of Kharkov, with the Germans "retreating slowly" and awaiting reinforcements.

A British spokesman said Adolf Hitler's high command already had thrown German reserves into the conflict without stemming the Russian assault. The Red armies, he said, had penetrated Nazi lines "in considerable depth."

On the Crimean front, 380 miles below Kharkov, a Soviet communique acknowledged that the Russians again had "retreated to new positions" in the seven-day-old battle of Kerch Peninsula.

London military quarters said the Russians were retreating in good order, and added: "They are not licked."

Meanwhile, the Germans issued a special communique asserting that Nazi warplanes yesterday sank a United States cruiser of the 9,100-ton Pensacola class and a destroyer in an attack on "an American squadron" in the Arctic ocean, off far northern Norway.

The communique said the planes, striking at the Allied supply line to Soviet Murmansk, bombed the convoy between North Cape and Spitzbergen.

Besides the two warships, the announcement said, a 3,000-ton icebreaker and a 2,000-ton merchant ship were destroyed and a 10,000-ton freighter was left aflame from stem to stern.

The Pensacola class consists of the Pensacola and the Salt Lake City, each with a normal crew of 663 men, ten 8-inch guns and four catapult-launched planes.

The Germans said the cruiser was bombed Thursday "north of North Cape" and caught fire and sank at midnight last night—thus apparently allowing adequate time for removal of the crew.

In the Crimea, a Soviet communique reported that "stubborn fighting" continued, but gave no indication that the Germans had reached the gates of Kerch City, as claimed by the Nazi command.

A German spokesman last night declared Axis troops had crossed the "Tartar Ditch," an old line of fortifications only 13 miles from the city, after a 37-mile advance in six days.

While the defenders of Kerch fought with their backs to the sea, the garrison at long-besieged Sevastopol, Russian Black Sea naval base 150 miles west of Kerch was reported slashing at Nazi lines in attempt to ease the pressure on their beleaguered comrades.

Soviet dispatches declared Sevastopol snipers had killed 1,000 Germans in 10 days and blown up a Nazi supply train. In between the two main battle sectors of Kerch and Kharkov, Axis reports acknowledged that the Russians had launched a new attack toward German-held Taganrog in the Sea of Azov. These reports said Nazi troops repulsed the Russians at the town of Pokrovsk, 15 miles north of Taganrog and 40 miles northwest of Rostov-on-Don.

various parts of the world during a discussion of his order permitting the war department to take over control of all the planes of commercial air lines.

We need all the planes we can get, he said. Every kind is being taken over, he added, including what he termed puddle jumpers and one-or two-man ships. He asserted that almost anything that can fly is useful to the government.

The President did not elaborate on what new fronts American men might be fighting soon. Nor did he care to answer a question as to whether American troops had taken part in the British operation of the French Island of Madagascar near strategic United Nations supply lines in the Indian Ocean.

The airline order means that domestic airline travel will be placed on a full wartime basis in the near future, with the army operating or controlling the nation's entire fleet of more than 300 transport planes.

FIREBUG CONFESSES BLAZES IN FORESTS

No Explanation Given and No Sabotage Suspicion

HARTFORD, Conn., May 15.—(P)—A 30-year-old railroad section foreman confessed, State Police announced, that he started several recent forest fires in eastern Connecticut and western Rhode Island which caused damage estimated as high as $3,000,000.

Rhode Island and Connecticut state policemen in a joint announcement last night identified the prisoner as Edward Francis LaCasse of Plainfield, married and the father of one child.

Colonel Edward J. Hickey, Connecticut state police commissioner, said LaCasse offered no explanation with his confession and that there was no suspicion of sabotage.

The fires burned over many square miles in the towns of Sterling (Conn.) bordering Plainfield on the north, and Greene and Coventry, R. I.

PRICE CONTROL MEETING HELD THURSDAY NIGHT

Interesting Information Is Given by Dr. Virgil Willit, Columbus

Dr. Virgil Willit, Department of Economics, Ohio State University, volunteer worker for the Office of Price Control and Ohio Council of Defense, spoke at some length, Thursday night, at the American Legion room in Memorial Hall, discussing the problems of price control and pointing out how the consumer can assist in the move against inflation.

The meeting was scheduled to take place in the Common Pleas Court room, but was adjourned to the Legion Hall for increased attendance.

Dr. Willit was introduced by City Manager Edwin Ducey, who is also chairman of the local Civilian Defense committee.

Dr. Willit pointed out that the new ceiling price control begins Monday, and one important phase of its success is proper information on the part of the consumer, who is asked to co-operate fully so that threatened inflation which is regulated by the price ceiling can be averted.

"Price control is one of the most effective steps toward winning the war," he said, during the course of his talk.

Civilian morale is aided by the price control, Dr. Willit declared, and said that since the world war opened the cost of living has increased 25 percent, most of it during the past year.

He also stated that price control will help keep down postwar burdens and stops hoarding.

Some of the products on which the price is not regulated, he said, include: All raw farm produce or greenhouse produce, eggs, poultry, flour, mutton and lamb. However beef and pork are subject to the price control. Fresh fish are not subject to the control, but shipped in fish are. Books and magazines are not included in the list of articles where prices are controlled.

Dr. Willit said that dealers may charge lower than the price ceilings fixed by peak prices in March, and the price control is based on prices which the individual grocers were charging in March, and therefore may vary on the same article in different stores.

Dealers, he said, must have a complete record of ceiling prices in March by July 1.

He urged consumers to be sure they had just reason for complaint before making any complaint against a dealer regarding alleged excessive prices.

He urged those giving information to consumers not to answer questions if they don't know the answers, and thus avoid confusion by giving the wrong answers.

His talk was primarily for the instruction of a large number of men and women who are to address various groups in explaining the price ceiling control.

This list of speakers includes the following, many of whom had not received notice from Cleveland as to the time and place of the Thursday night meeting:

Reed M. Winegardner, Ray R. Maddox, W. S. Paxson, Ed L. Bush, Charles S. Hire, Troy T. Junk, John B. Hill, S. Wesley Fennig, Roy Baughn, Colin Campbell, Norman L. McLean, A. B. NEW CONCENTRATION CAMP PUT IN NORWAY BY NAZIS

LONDON, May 15 —(P)— The Norwegian government-in-exile charged today German occupation authorities in Norway had established a concentration camp for 700 school teachers who were systematically tortured "to break them physically and spiritually."

In an 8,000-word document, the government reviewed alleged attempts by Major Vidkun Quisling, the puppet premier, to Nazify the school system through threats and terror and asserted that 1,300 teachers who refused to join the Nazi teachers' organization were in concentration camps.

MEMOIR

In the midst of life we are being constantly reminded of death as it has been ordained that all must go the way of all the earth.

In the early morning hours of Monday the death angel came into our midst, this time leaving its shadow upon the Morris home and bearing away the spirit of the beloved husband and father to the presence of his creator.

Joseph L. Morris was born near Hillsboro, Highland Co., March 25, 1878. Answered the Eternal summons May 11, 1942, being aged 64 years, 1 month and 16 days. He was the youngest of four sons born to James R. and Priscilla Fields Morris. Surviving are William, of Sabina, George and Frank of Washington, C. H.

When quite young, with his parents, he removed to Fayette Co., and has since been a resident of Jasper Township.

On November 30, 1905, he was joined in marriage with Minnie Baughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Baughn. To this union was born two children, a son, Noel and a daughter, Helen, now the wife of Harold Thomas. Two grandchildren, Joe and Jean Morris completed this happy little family.

For a number of years the deceased and his wife made a home for his aged parents and after their death came the death of Mrs. Morris' mother, since which time they have made their home with Mr. Baughn, caring for him in his declining years.

To Joe Morris, "life, as the poet has said, "was one glad sweet song." His was a sunny nature and his presence created a cheery atmosphere. Always able to see the silver living and the humorous side of critical situations. He loved his own fireside and was strong in his attachment for his family. Nothing gave him greater pleasure than to add to their happiness and his love and devotion was warmly reciprocated on their part. Thus creating a happy home life.

There was also a strong bond of attachment between him and his three brothers.

No man who has given the better part of his life to those he loved and who has lived in pleasant accord with his fellow men has lived in vain.

Long and kindly will this community remember this friend and neighbor who has lived and loved and labored within its bounds for over half a century.

When I put out to sea. But such a tide as moving seems asleep. Too full for sound and foam. When that which drew from out the boundless deep. Turns again home. Twilight and evening well. And after that the dark. And may there be no sadness of farewell. When I embark. For though from out our bourne of time and place The flood may bear me far I hope to see my Pilot face to face When I have crossed the bar.

GIRLS TO GET ROOM FOR $34.50 A MONTH

And New Capital Hotel Has Other Good Features

WASHINGTON, May 15 — (P)— Girls working here for the government who will live in a new federally-financed hotel for women will pay $34.50 a month for single room, without bath, but they may entertain their swains in romantically-named parlors.

Ralph S. Scott, who built the place with an R. F. C. Loan, said the "Beau Parlors" would bear such names as "Anthony-Cleopatra," "Romeo-Juliet," "John Alden," etc. Nearby the parlors will be a pipe organ provided for "concerts, weddings or divine services."

Scott said the rental rates were fixed by the government and that rooms with private baths rented for more than $34.50 a month.

The 250-room hotel will be ready for occupancy in about three weeks.

We Stand Squarely for the Best Interest of the Citizens of Washington C. H. and Fayette County.

COMMON SENSE VS HYSTERIA

Hysteria in demanding this or that, or in criticising this or that, is one failing in this tremendous war effort we are making, which all of us should be careful to avoid.

On a busy corner of a Washington C. H. street, the other day, we listened to a discussion between a small group of people which was quite enlightening. One man, who is known for his sincerity in doing everything possible to aid the government's war effort, was being criticised for not being enthusiastic about a certain government regulation, which he was implicitly obeying and yet in a conservative way was questioning its reasonableness or necessity in the war effort. It so happened that he is known to have been doing more to help the government in his quiet way than the man who was criticising him.

Most of us have already gone on record for more enthusiasm in this war, more outspoken patriotism, but we feel that there is a common sense attitude that is more valuable than hysterical and meaningless outbursts which some few people mistake for patriotism.

The enthusiasm which most of us urge is an expression of real patriotic emotion. Hysteria is intolerance and a witch-burning desire, seeing spies and saboteurs under every bed, accusing everybody who disagrees with us of being fifth or sixth columnists.

Fortunately, there hasn't been much evidence of hysteria yet. But already there are hysterical attacks upon some individuals and organizations which—however mistaken—are sincere in their love for America.

The monograph Divide and Conquer, put out by the Office of Facts and Figures, is a skeleton textbook on propaganda methods used by Hitler and Goebbels. Divide and Conquer warns the American people of certain specific approaches by which the Axis is trying to soften us up.

Properly applied, the information in Divide and Conquer is invaluable. But like any analysis of propaganda, it treats a boundary line so faintly marked that the hysterical should not venture upon it.

The MacLeish monograph summarizes 15 lies which, unquestionably, Axis propaganda is trying to put across over here. Most of the points are sound. But some require reservations. And when these latter are used by one man against another, or one organization against another, we may well weigh carefully the animus that may be present.

For example, Divide and Conquer lists as a Hitler propaganda line the lie that "the cost of the war will bankrupt

2. Who was the first king of Israel?
3. Who was the founder of the Society of Friends and Quakers?

Hints on Etiquette
If you demand music with your meals you are not a real gourmet. Experts in such things say that conversation is the only suitable accompaniment of good food.

Today's Horoscope
Ultimate success in life is assured the person having a birthday today, if he or she will persevere in effort and work hard. Such a person likes good literature, and because of an analytical mind, would make a good critic. Secret matters will play an important part in this person's life this year, bringing gain and some sadness. Be discreet in love affairs, and watch the health. The child who is born on this date will evince many strange and unorthodox ideas, some being remarkably beneficial, especially in the domain of science. A tendency toward extravagance will need to be controlled.

One-Minute Test Answers
1. Nicholas II, who was killed with his family in 1918.
2. Saul.
3. George Fox.

the nation." Does this mean that everybody who ventures to suggest economy is a Hitler stooge. We hope not, for we intend to demand economy wherever it will not hamper the war effort.

"Bolshevism will sweep over Europe," Goebbels wants us to believe. Does this mean that we can not criticize those Communists who even now are strengthening their positions in anticipation of post-war activities? We hope not. We're for full military collaboration with anti-Hitler Russia, and for rigid control over Communist activities in this country.

"Our leaders are incompetent," Hitler argues. Does this mean we should not criticize those who are incompetent? We hope not. Even our government can not claim 100 percent perfection in its personnel.

And finally, there is the German contention that "American democracy will be lost during the war." Inevitably we shall have to surrender privileges we had come to regard as rights. We do that willingly, as an evil infinitely preferable to the alternative of weakening the anti-Axis effort.

But—are we foreclosed from warning against unnecessary attempts of egotistical individuals to grab for powers which are anti-democratic? We hope not. We shall fight such grabs to the limit.

Let's be realistic. Let's be aggressive. Let's be suspicious of possible sixth columnists. But let's keep our heads. Let's not get hysterical.

Germ Invade Lungs from Varied Sources
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

the lungs some of the outside air. In crowded theaters you breathe some of the droplets that are sneezed out or coughed up by other people.

In the air there may be not only germs, but dust and molds from plants and other sources, pollen grains and animal dander. Thus the most frequent respiratory diseases are the common cold, influenza, pneumonia, tuberculosis, asthma, and in fact this group constitutes the most frequent group of diseases to which human beings are subject.

I say "molds from plants and other sources," for while a physician naturally thinks first of influenza, pneumonia or tuberculosis when he has an acute or chronic case of respiratory infection, the number of mold infections that are being discovered is increasing very rapidly. These molds are microscopic vegetable organisms which are much more complicated than the bacteria of ordinary germs.

"Valley Fever" Spreading
One case in point of a mold infection which is increasing in frequency is that of the so-called San Joaquin Valley fever of California. Up to about 1939 no case had ever been detected outside of California. In California it was called "valley fever" and "desert fever." In the soil of that region the mold grows in great abundance and probably nearly all the inhabitants acquire an immunity from repeated small infections. This would account for the fact that the disease is almost stationary in incidence in the San Joaquin Valley, but has begun to appear in Arizona, New Mexico and other of the western states.

A number of cases have occurred in eastern states, but in all instances, so far as I know, the affected individual had returned from a trip to California or Arizona.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
TIBBY WONDERED if Marg realized that in her confession she had not mentioned the name of the man with whom she was in love. Not that that was necessary, for Tibby felt certain, with a sinking heart, that it could not be anyone except Captain Mercer.

Marg had said that, although she had known she thought about this man more than she should, and hoped that he thought about her, neither had admitted it until the night of the crack-up, when, as she expressed it, their love had "come out into the open."

"We both fought it," Marg said now, still not naming the man, "but when we both realized it might be the end of everything, how near, at least, we had come to it, there didn't seem any sense in fighting it any longer. There's no sense at all, I guess, when it comes to love," she finished miserably.

This was practically the same decision that Tibby had reached about love. There did not seem to be any sense to it. It seemed so cruel that Marg's happiness must be so short-lived a second time, so said that she must be hurt again. Of course she was bound to be hurt. Captain Mercer, as Steena had pointed out, already had a wife and so was not free. The first man with whom Marg had fallen in love had married someone else.

"You see," Marg said, painful color spreading over her face, but her eyes still honest and direct, "he's already married. I know that's no excuse for him, or for me. We both knew that he wasn't free."

It was like Marg not to try to excuse herself. Tibby admired her for that. She said, "Maybe he will be—someday." In her heart, however, she did not believe that could be the solution.

Marg seemed not to believe that, either. "No," she shook her head, "that's out. His wife wouldn't agree to divorce, if I were willing for him to do such a thing, which I'm not. I don't relish the role of home wrecker. It hardly becomes me, but," she added, "I guess, from all I hear, that this home was wrecked before I stepped into the picture."

Tibby had heard, too, that Captain Mercer and his wife did not get on well together. Mrs. Mercer was said to be a shallow, selfish sort of person; there were no children to make the ties a real home needed. Tibby agreed that Marg was hardly a home wrecker; having been hurt herself by another woman, she would not want to hurt someone else, but if Mrs. Mercer did not love her husband, maybe she would not be hurt.

Oh, it was all so mixed up—not a "pretty story," as Marg had said. No triangle ever was, Tibby decided. It was not a new one, as Marg had commented, in telling about the doctor who had jilted her, but it had been new to her, as now it was new again—and therefore it was important to the people concerned; it was new in that they would have to find how they could meet an old situation, bravely, wisely—the way it would have to be met for each individual.

"I don't know what to do," Marg said, as many women must have said before her. "I know it's wrong—and yet to me, because it's so wonderful, it's right, too. I know I should go away while I am strong enough, and yet, to run from trouble would be weak. I suppose I ought to be ashamed, but I am proud to have won the love of a man so fine and to give him the little I can in return."

Tibby wished there were something she could say to help her. She was glad she had told Marg that she always would be proud of her; she was proud of her now, although she might, in the eyes of the world, have done a foolish thing, broken the rules, as Steena had phrased it, but Marg had not meant to break them. Maybe there were other rules, not man-made. Maybe there would be some solution, unforeseen.

Tibby tried to say something of this for comfort. "You will know what is best to do when the time comes," she told her friend. "May be there is no right and wrong—like black and white—no straight line between weakness and strength. Each of us only can do what seems best and right for him. I know that you will do that, Marg. You're so fine yourself, so good."

Marg shook her head; tears filled her eyes. She was comforted to have a friend who believed in her. She bit her lips fiercely, however, for she knew that tears did not help, although these were not of self pity, but from gratitude toward Tibby. Even one's friends did not always possess such rare understanding or such loyalty. Marg would try to live up to them.

After that talk, Tibby was impressed by the loyalty Marg had shown, for she still had not revealed the name of the man. She may have guessed, of course, that Tibby knew, but it was rather fine of Marg not to say who it was, for Tibby felt that the biggest share of blame rested on the man's shoulders. He was the one who was not free; he must know that his love could not bring Marg any happiness. He should have been the one to have the most strength by not having been weak enough, even under the stress of impending death, to have betrayed his feelings for Marg, to allow her to betray her own.

Maybe she was judging Captain Mercer too harshly. If he was as fine a man as Marg felt him to be, he would do what was right, too. Though that might mean even less happiness for her friend, Tibby hoped it would prove true. She felt it would be worse for Marg to discover this love unworthy, than this man unfaithful. Then, truly, Marg would be hurt irrevocably.

That she was bound to be hurt some was inevitable, as also was proved by the remark Steena made a day or two after Marg's confession to Tibby.

"I told you I didn't envy Marg's becoming such a heroine," Steena said in Marg's presence. "I also told you that Captain Mercer's wife might get all that publicity—thanks to HER husband. Mrs. Mercer says she intends to do something about it."

"What can she do?" Tibby asked, as she had when Steena had said before that the captain's wife might not be as generous in giving Marg the spotlight as he. Again, she felt rather sick, for there must be more talk going around, since the accident, that Steena had somehow got onto. Tibby knew that Marg never would confide in Steena.

"She can go to the company and ask to have Marg's schedule changed, or for her to be transferred—or even fired," Steena said. "Far be it from me to say anything to Marg. I tried once to tell her she ought to watch her step. If you want facts this time, since you wouldn't believe me before when I said there were ugly rumors being circulated, Marg and the captain did not just have breakfast together the morning after that crack-up; they had breakfast AND lunch AND dinner. They spent the entire time, until they returned, with each other. If you want to know how this was established, the company was trying, naturally, to get in communication with the crew."

"But that doesn't prove anything," Tibby objected, not too intelligently. Why couldn't a poor Marg and her captain have been allowed that one day? She knew it had been the day when they had found they loved each other; only to find so soon that they might never have another. "I mean things are not always the way they appear," she hoped Steena would realize this, not only in regard to Marg, but in regard to Tibby and Wayne and the dance, although Steena had not, as yet, made any comment upon Tibby's brief recount of that event.

"That is exactly why everyone should be more careful," Steena shrewdly remarked. "The best intentions in the world are likely to be misconstrued. The most platonic relationship may be taken for a love affair."

Did Steena refer to Tibby and Wayne, as well as to Marg and her captain?

Saga of Wake Island Being Re-enacted

By TED GILL

(Wide World News Service)
HOLLYWOOD—Down on the wind-swept shores of the Salton Sea—25 feet below sea-level—they're re-enacting the Japanese capture of Wake Island with all the fury and realism that movies can create.

It's the heroic saga of Maj. James Patrick Devereaux and his little band of American Marines who for days put up such a gallant, but futile stand against overwhelming Nippon hordes. Brian Donlevy, former LaFayette Escadrille flier, plays the role of Devereaux, supported by Robert Preston and Barbara Britton.

For Japanese soldiers, Paramount hired 150 Filipino lettuce pickers from farms in the vast Imperial Valley that extends from the Mexican border northward through the barren desert beyond the Salton Sea, a 50-mile long man-made lake.

For wages, the Filipinos were paid $10.50 a day, but it was largely the rare opportunity of appearing in a motion picture that attracted them. They said they could make that much dough any day picking lettuce.

In their first scene, they approached in armored speedboats from across the lake for a landing amid the realistic but harmless bursting of black powder mines and the blank machine gun fire of movie Marines. But when they neared the shore, they didn't want to jump into the water and get wet—and they also refused to fall down and play dead in the water. They waited until they reached dry land, then all fell in a heap.

The scene had to be taken numerous times, until they finally died according to the script.

Most unpleasant episodes of the three-weeks location trip were terrific sandstorms that periodically swept the desert, driving the entire company to the cover of their little tent city. Donlevy said it was one of the most severe punishments he had ever encountered on any of his location trips.

Upon completion of the picture, which will be appropriately titled "Wake Island," a 3,000 foot runway the studio built for $18,000 for its airplane sequences, will be offered to the Marine Corps as a training base.

Pete, the penguin, put Bob Hope on the spot!

They were filming a scene where Pete and Bob do a roller skating act on a theater stage. Both wore top hats and tails and, as a concession to Pete, Hope also wore a beak.

On proper cue, both were to skate off the stage. But not Pete!

He remained and proceeded to nod and bow, amid howls from the audience, composed of dress extras.

—or Trouble's A Ton"

When it comes to the family's weekly washing.

It is a ton of trouble when the housewife attempts to do it herself or even with the help of a maid and gadgets never really help much.

It is fuss and bother and it is hard work no matter how it is done, with time taken from other important activities.

When the true cost is counted—the time, supplies, hot water, electricity, investment and depreciation of household equipment—there is nothing saved. So why not make washday an ounce instead of a ton by sending everything to the professional laundry? Just pack up your troubles in a laundry bag and be smiling fresh and happy when the day is over, instead of wash-weary and worn.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

Vice president Henry A. Wallace is apprehensive of a lot of Axis dirty work in Latin America during the coming summer. Addressing the Free World association recently, he predicted "a last desperate blow" by the totalitarians before the season is over, and ventured the guess that it'll substantially side-swipe our hemisphere.

The Japs, he suggested, are likely to take a crack at Alaska and the United States' Pacific northwest.

Alaska doesn't sound like an improbability. It's only a short hop thither from northern Nippon. The more southerly coast isn't so conveniently vulnerable to raids by the Mikado's airmen. Still, there's no telling what such a desperate brood may not attempt.

However, it's with Axis fifth columnist activity in our Latin republics south of the Rio Grande that Henry's prophesy mainly concerns itself. He recognizes that 18 of their 20 governments are sufficiently "pro" Uncle Sam and the rest of the United Democracies to have broken diplomatic relations with the Axis bunch, and that the other two are friendly our way.

Henry, though, mentions the likelihood of internal uprisings against 'em, to force their alignment with the Axis, or, at least, to nullify 'em, as democratic influences.

An Authority
Henry, having specialized on

Latin America, speaks with considerable authority.

But does Henry know any more about it than I do personally? I spent a matter of years there, I've supplied it with Uncle Sam's local publicity as to World War No. 1 I've published a weekly newspaper in its midst—The River Plate American. I've got a Latin American-born daughter and two grandchildren.

I think I can tie Henry as a prognosticator on that part of the world.

As everybody's aware, those countries are, by descent, Spanish, with the exception of the biggest of 'em, Brazil, which is Portuguese. Dictator Franco of Spain is totalitarian, but Spain, essentially, is Russian in its sympathies and likes Joe Stalin, who certainly isn't pro-Axis now. And Spanish-American reflects Spain. So'll Franco himself, as the Axis evaporates.

Brazil is traditionally pro-United States.

Cuba and Mexico are fanatically so.

Ditto 15-17ths of the rest of the crew.

Now, Italy? Italians are about as thick in Latin America as Spaniards and Portuguese. Just as, in Italy, they're through with Mussolini, they're through with Herr Hitler.

The Japs can be dismissed.

There are some colonies of 'em, but they rate, in Latin America, approximately as they do here.

That they could pull off an up-rising today is a ridiculous idea. The local police would suppress 'em in jig-time.

Now get down to the Germans. They've got two sizable east coast South American settlements. One's in the state of Rio Grande del Sul, in the southern end of Brazil. Another, more distinctly urban, is in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

You Must Talk German
You get off about at Puerto Alegre, Estado Rio Grande do Sul, and you'll have to speak German, to transact retail business—it's so Germanic that it is native.

Yet, during the last war, when the state tried to declare itself pro-kaiser, it was squashed in short order from pro-Ally Rio. It happened again this time.

Early in the muss Rio Grande do Sul undertook to proclaim a German dictatorship in opposition to President Vargas. Vargas is a pretty plain-spoken dictator all right, but he doesn't propose to be dictated to.

He suppressed those Germans in no time.

I've seen it happen in the Argentine.

I've seen their Buenos Aires shops sacked, their embassy looted, their diplomatic representatives marooned on an island in the Rio de la Plata.

Does this indicate that Henry Wallace needs to do much worrying for a bit ahead—so far as concerns the western hemisphere?

NEW ORCHESTRA IS ATTRACTING ATTENTION HERE

Alumni Group May Be the Nucleus For Real Music Group

When the new Washington C. H. Alumni Orchestra made its first real public appearance in playing for the recent county eighth grade commencement exercises held in the high school auditorium here, a large number of persons realized that a new musical organization had been launched in the city.

While the Alumni Orchestra is still young, hope is already growing that in the not too distant future the organization may develop into a adult symphony orchestra.

For the past two years, numerous suggestions had been made when former members of the High School Orchestra happened to meet in social gatherings to the effect that there should be in this community, an organization of instrumentalists in order to keep alive the skill that was developed during high school or college days.

Finally, last autumn, a meeting was called at the home of Karl J. Kay for the purpose of organizing such a group. The first meeting was well attended and the decision was to continue meeting twice each month so long as the interest continued.

Briefly, all persons residing in this community who were ever members of the high school orchestra or band are considered members of the alumni orchestra if they so wish. Furthermore, there is a desire to welcome to membership such newcomers as may play orchestral or band instruments and who are interested in group playing.

As the members of the group have no desire to encroach upon the time of school students, persons still in high school are not eligible to membership, but immediately upon graduation, should they remain in this community, they will be asked to join the alumni orchestra.

The primary purpose is to meet socially and enjoy a few hours playing as a group. There is no intention to try to get "jobs" playing here or there, for the members are all busy people who cannot allow their vocations to interfere with their daily work it is explained. However, it has been stated that should the services of such a group be needed for a worthy purpose, such as special church services, patriotic gatherings or community projects, the alumni orchestra will try to do its part, using funds thus secured in the purchase of music.

Miss Mary E. Wood is concert mistress and secretary-treasurer, while Charles Snepppard and Karl J. Kay divide the work of conducting. The membership so far has been between 15 and 20 persons. One or two losses have been sustained on account of the calls into military service.

Following is a list of present membership: Mary E. Wood, Mrs. John Leland, Jean Barger, Mrs. Doris Diffendahl, Loren Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parrett, Mrs. J. Edgar Vance, Karl J. Kay, Mrs. Kathleen Slack, Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, Marcia Highley, Christine Switzer, De Witt Thornton, Myron Jacobs, Howard Winner, Charles Sheppard, Francis Morgan, George Cox, Robert Himmler, and Dale Wade.

Between 15 and 20 other former members of the high school orchestra are now living in and about Washington C. H. and it is hoped they all will become members in due time.

Kensington Club Assembled for Delightful Party

Miss Ethel Pine was a congenial hostess to the ladies of the Thursday Kensington Club, and entertained at the home of Mrs. Harold Craig, on Circle Avenue for the delightful party. Covers were laid for eight at the dining table, with three smaller tables arranged in the spacious living room. The dining table was covered with a lace cloth, and centered with an artistic arrangement of snapdragons and greenery. On the smaller tables were vases of buttercups and daisies, so dainty. The menu was most delicious, consisting of seasonal viands, and the hour held many pleasures. During the afternoon, Red Cross sewing was done in the handsome living room, where numerous bouquets of spring flowers were admired. Informal visiting over the needlework was gay, and the afternoon an extremely pleasant one. Mrs. Will Burnett was a guest with the members.

Mrs. Fred Rost Entertains with Spring Party

Another delightful spring party was added to the social calendar Thursday night when Mrs. Fred Rost entertained the ladies of her fortnightly bridge club for a most enjoyable time. One guest, Mrs. Henry Brownell, Jr. was included with the members. The small card tables had been placed in the living room where bouquets of spring flowers were effectively arranged. The bridge game was of much spirit, with high scores held by Mrs. Thomas Christopher and Mrs. Leonard Korn. Defense stamps were presented as prizes, with the charming and pretty hostess presenting Mrs. Brownell stamps as a guest prize. The small tables were prettily appointed for the salad course at the close of the evening. Centering the tables were dainty bouquets of pansies and forget-me-nots in small vases. The spring course was most delicious, and the hour a merry one.

Elmwood Ladies' Aid Met with Mrs. Powless

Mrs. Elizabeth Powless opened her home to the Elmwood Ladies Aid for a very pleasant afternoon and meeting on Thursday. The rooms were most attractive with bouquets of peonies, lilies of the valley and other May blooms, and the hospitality extended by the gracious hostess and her assisting committee, Mrs. Mary Crouse, Mrs. Florence Morris, Mrs. Jessie Thompson, and Mrs. Ella Clouser, were most delightful. Thirty-six members were present, and took part in the business meeting, during which they voted to purchase a $100 War Bond. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon and visiting among the members greatly enjoyed.

Tawanka Group

The Tawanka group of Campfire Girls met at the home of Lucinda Harper on Thursday afternoon, for a most delightful meeting. The president, Betty Rose Harsha, presided over the meeting, at which time eighteen members answered the roll call. The leaders, Mrs. John Forsythe and Mrs. Howard Harper, and the mascot, Mary Lou Biehn were also present. Plans were made for girls to go to Camp Wyandot for a week, with thirteen girls planning to go. The girls are planning to begin work on their headbands, with one, Lucinda Harper, already at work on hers, which she showed to the girls. Following the meeting a picnic supper was served on the lawn, with the young girls gaily enjoying the party. The good dishes were plentiful, and most satisfying to the hungry.

C. T. S. Class To Buy War Savings Bond

Twenty-four members of the C. T. S. class of the First Presbyterian Church gathered in the church basement for their meeting, Thursday.

The devotionals were conducted by Miss Anna Passmore, followed by a business session presided over by the president, Mrs. Bess Briggs.

A very patriotic gesture was made by the ladies, when they voted to buy War Bonds.

Mrs. W. B. Lansing, Mrs. Carmen Coil, Mrs. Zelma Sever and Mrs. Mable Parrett were the hostesses of the evening, and served delicious refreshments.

Old Fashion Party

The Gleaner Class of McNair Church enjoyed a gay time Thursday evening, when the looters in a recent Fund Raising Contest entertained the winners to an old-fashioned party.

The affair was held in the church basement and was entirely social, with the pleasures most congenial.

The hostess had donned pretty old fashion gowns for the party, and gave each a hearty welcome.

The guests were summoned to the supper table by an old dinner bell. Red and white check gingham cloths covered the tables, and coal oil lamps burned in the center of each.

The old fashion menu of beans and cornbread, with additional good dishes, was most delicious and enjoyed.

Mrs. Carrie Lidy, the president, conducted the brief business meeting following the supper hour.

11. Any one desiring further information concerning the flower show may call Mrs. Earl McCoy who is general chairman or Mrs. Willard Bitzer, president of the club.

Dinner Bridge Club

Assembling the members of her bridge club at Graves Restaurant at seven o'clock, Mrs. Harry Ferguson entertained with a delightful party Thursday evening. The guests were seated together at one long table for the delicious fried chicken dinner and later adjourned to Mrs. Ferguson's home for the evening's bridge game.

The progressive game was contested with interest and gaiety, the trophy won by Mrs. Richard Jacobs. Mrs. Russell Andrews was presented the guest prize.

Bouquets of iris and spirea were admired in the living room where the tables were arranged for the bridge game.

Other guests with Mrs. Andrews were Mrs. Alvin Little of Jeffersonville and Mrs. Otis Core.

Mrs. Bliss Robison was a hostess for the evening with Mrs. Ferguson, but was unable to be present.

Mrs. J. C. Cannon Regent of William Horney D.A.R.

Mrs. J. A. Wissler was a cordial hostess to the members of William Horney Chapter D. A. R. on Wednesday afternoon, being assisted by her sister, Mrs. A. E. Kemp. This was the annual business meeting and no guests were invited.

The Regent, Mrs. Carl Culbertson presided over the meeting which opened with the singing of America, followed by the pledge of allegiance. The Lord's Prayer was led by the chaplain, Mrs. H. J. Smith.

The Regent read a letter from the Regent of Lagonda Chapter of Springfield stating that the equipment at the Pennsylvania House was such that a covered dish luncheon might be served with each bringing their own table service. It was voted that the Chapter would hold their June meeting at the Pennsylvania House, with guests. This will give an opportunity to visit this historic house which is one of special interest.

The Regent reported that the petition of Mrs. Lola Smith Clausing had been accepted and she was unanimously elected to membership. The following officers were elected for two year term: Regent, Mrs. J. C. Cannon; Vice Regent, Mrs. A. E. Kemp; Chaplain, Mrs. H. J. Smith; Council members, Mrs. W. W. Williams and Mrs. Harold Zimmerman; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. G. Marshall.

A report on the revision of the by-laws was given by Mrs. Wissler. Plans were also made for decorating the graves of the members on Memorial Day. The Chapter adjourned to meet at the Pennsylvania House on June 10, for installation of officers and Flag Day program.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Barbara West Is President of New Odako Group

A new group of Campfire girls met for their second meeting Thursday afternoon at which time they voted upon the name Odako, for the group.

Delores Jacobs had invited the girls to her home for the meeting and was a pretty and congenial young hostess.

The officers to head the new group are Barbara West, president, Nancy Boylan, vice president, Delores Jacobs, secretary, and Marilyn Van Vorhis, treasurer.

Mrs. James Barger is the capable leader of the group, and has won the admiration and love of all the young members in the two meetings.

Little Jane Van Vorhis is to be the mascot of the group.

Plans were made for a hike for the next meeting.

THEODORE LEVY DIES AT HOME IN BROOKLYN

Mrs. Raymond Bishop of the Cisco Road has just received word of the death of her father, Theodore Levy, at his home in Brooklyn Thursday. He was 75 years old and had not been in the best of health for some time.

Although Mr. Levy had never lived here, he had made many friends during his frequent visits with his daughter.

The funeral is to be held Saturday but due to the lack of time Mr. and Mrs. Bishop will not be able to attend the services.

S. E. SHULTZ DIES AT ILLINOIS HOME

S. E. Shultz, a former resident of Washington C. H. and Fayette County, died last week at his home in Broadlands, Ill. Mrs. H. M. Vesey was advised in a letter that he has just received from Mrs. Shultz.

Mr. Shultz had many friends here and especially in the Jeffersonville community where the family lived for a number of years. He was a farmer.

The Shultz came here from Illinois more than 30 years ago and went back about six years ago.

Mrs. Vesey said her letter from Mrs. Shultz gave none of the details of her husband's illness or death. Burial was in the family lot at Broadlands.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY

Be careful what you say;
A word has wings as does a bird,
And 'round the world it may be heard;

It carries seed—dropped here and there,
That word a different fruit may bear;
Be careful what you say.

Be careful what you say;
Wound not a friend or help a foe—
Unguarded words do that you know;

A word once spoken carries on,
We never know how far it's gone;
Be careful what you say.

Be careful what you say;
Spread not a rumor that is ill,
It may return your soul to kill;
It may cause pain without just cause;

Before you spread a rumor pause;
Be careful what you say.

Be careful what you say;
Foes lurk near you day and night,
Foes of our country we must fight;
Be on your guard with every word;

Unspoken words can not be heard;
Be careful what you say.

Matinee Races To Be Held Here Memorial Day

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 15.—If Mike Jacobs isn't the busiest guy in town these days, the other fellow must be stepping right fast . . . besides trying to line up a Louis-Pastor fight this summer (and to persuade the army to release Joe for training) Mike is staging that Lou Nova-Lee Savold and George Abrams-Steve Mamakos navy relief show in Washington next Thursday and the Pastor-Tami Maurelio brawl here the same night . . . Incidentally, the District of Columbia boxing commission has waived its ten percent "take" on the navy show . . . Tuffy Lee-mans, the Giants' footballer, was turned down by the navy the other day because of "double vision," which was considered a great asset on the gridiron because he could watch two tacklers at the same time.

Shear Nonsense

Contributions toward more colorful sports writing: Max (Montgomery Advertiser) Moseley's suggestion that Doc Prothro, the dentist-baseball manager, has jerked more pitchers than teeth . . . Doc (Boston Post) Almy, in reply to a query on how Red Cochrane would do against Joe Walcott: "Were Cochrane equipped with a parachute, it is probable he might land all right at Newport, R. I., any time within the first three rounds . . . and Buey (Louisville Times) Atkinson's idea of extending rationing to include racetrack tips.

Today's Guest Star

Jim Rasmussen, Ironwood (Mich.) Daily Globe: "Washington's battery, Wynn and Early, sounds more like a Griffith command than a major league team's pitcher-catcher combination and it is quite the reverse of last year's starters, Chase and Early."

Men Humiliated Again by Ladies In Bowling Tilt

The ladies of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. again humbled the men when they met on the bowling alleys Thursday night. And they did it in a big way, winning all three games of the match and the total pin count of 2,243 to 2,011.

Following the custom set at the opening of the feud, only the first names were written into the record books, but that fails to conceal the identity of the contestants among their friends. Again it was Daisy who turned in the high score and operated the heavy artillery. She registered games of 155, 168 and 233 for a total of 556. Homer was the second high but his total was 100 pins short of the mark set by Daisy.

1942 Buck Gridders Are Light But They're Fast, Says Brown

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, May 15.—(P)—Two seniors, five juniors and four sophomores—all light, but fast and full of fight—will make up Ohio State University's starting football team next fall.

Paul E. Brown, chief of the depleted Buckeye coaching staff, said so today, and he split his squad into "Reds" and "Whites" for tomorrow's regulation game winding up the spring training chores.

"But there are," said Brown, some "ifs"—"if I don't change my mind, if the draft doesn't get some of the boys, if they all remain eligible and stay in school, and if some second or third stringer doesn't beat out one of the boys in the fall."

On the "Red" team, which

TRAINERS JOIN FAIR BOARD TO PUT ON PROGRAM

Small Admission Charge To Be Made—Money To Keep Up Cinder Path

Matinee races of the type so popular "back in the good old days" are in prospect for Washington C. H. on Decoration Day, a member of the speed committee of the Fair Board revealed following a round table discussion by committeemen and owners and trainers of horses at the Fairgrounds Thursday night.

The plans are not yet in the final form, he said, but the general outline has been completed, he said.

The matinee races are to be put on, he said, through the combined efforts of the speed committee, the Fair Board and the trainers now polishing off the charges at the track here.

The decision to offer an afternoon of sport was influenced largely, he said, by the desire of the three groups to give the people of this community—a that includes an area within a 30-mile radius of Washington C. H.—some entertainment close to home while they are conserving their tires and gasoline.

There are now about 50 trotters and pacers in training here, it was pointed out, and while the races could be put on with these horses, an invitation is to be extended to trainers and owners of horses in training at the surrounding fairgrounds tracks—Wilmington, Xenia and London.

The tentative program calls for four races described as a class A trot and pace and a class B trot and pace.

A small admission will be charged at the gate, probably 25 cents. Although it has not yet been definitely decided, the admission to the grandstand probably will be free and the present plan does not include a charge for automobiles.

Because of the rules of the Trotting Association, there will be no cash purses for the horsemen. It was explained that if cash purses were offered, there would be complications concerning officials and records for the horses that would make the matinee races impossible. The committee spokesmen said, however, the horsemen are always ready to race for fun and prestige—and to settle the arguments that develop during the long training grind. It was pointed out, too, that the horses are now ready for the races and that trainers welcome an opportunity to put them to the test under actual racing conditions.

The proceeds, the committee man said, will be used for improving the cinder path around the outside of the race track here. This cinder path is considered one of the reasons why the Fayette County Fairground track is regarded as one of the best training tracks in the country. With the hope of developing this into a major harness horse training center, the Fair Board and its speed committee are represented as being anxious to keep up the cinder path.

However, the committee and board spokesmen emphasized that the primary purpose of the projected matinee races was to provide entertainment close to home at a time when travel is restricted by tire and gasoline conservation.

Jim Tobin Sets Mark for Pitchers And Lombardi with 3 Home Runs

By BILL KING

BOSTON.—(P)—Now that Jim Tobin, the Boston Braves' knuckle ball artist, has broken into the record book as the first major league pitcher in history to hit three consecutive home runs in one game, he threatens to set another new hurlers' slugging mark to insure domestic tranquility.

"You know Ernie Lombardi not only is our Oakland, Cal., neighbor in the off-season but he also is boarding with us just now. And I have to get just as many homers as he does to have any peace at home," the good-natured Tobin explained after he had banged out his fourth circuit drive in his last five trips to the plate and his fifth of the season.

"I don't want to hear any more talk about your hitting," Jim warned the grinning Lombardi.

"You'll be playing every day and I'll be out only every fourth game or so, but I'm going to get just as many homers as you do," he threatened his catcher-boarder.

If Tobin can make good on that boast, he will have little difficulty erasing all major league season records for hurlers. Wes Ferrell set the American League mark by getting nine in 48 games for Cleveland in 1931 and Hal Schumachers six in 44 games for the Giants has been the National League's record since 1934. Lombardi has hit as many as 20 homers in one season and has averaged 11 a year since he broke in with the Dodgers back in 1931.

It is likely that Lombardi's batting tips have had much to do with Tobin's surprising outburst. He broke in with Pittsburgh in 1937 but until this season, he had made only two major league homers.

Ernie has been telling me that you can't get a homer with your bat on your shoulder," Tobin continued. "He has been urging me to go up there and take a good swing and that's what I've been doing. He knows what hitting is all about." Despite his slugging ability, Tobin has no desire to follow in Babe Ruth's footsteps and quit pitching for the outfield. "If I was an outfielder, I'd have to play every day and once every four is enough for me," he confessed.

Here's Slugging Pitcher

Jim Tobin, 29-year-old knuckle ball specialist of the Braves; played a hero's role in a game against the White Sox in Boston when he batted three consecutive home runs and pitched the Braves to victory by only allowing the Sox five hits for the game. Tobin is seen at left being congratulated by his teammates after getting his third circuit clout. In the past 42 years of Big League baseball, only the late Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx have bettered this mark of three homers in one game.

OSU Ball Team At Crossroads in Series with Iowa

CHICAGO, May 15.—(P)—Iowa, which has cornered most of the honors in Big Ten baseball statistics, can top off one of its greatest seasons today and tomorrow against Ohio State.

The two games at Iowa City will end the Hawkeyes' season and the outcome probably will eliminate one team from the four-way race for the conference championship.

Michigan and Ohio State are tied for the leadership with five wins and one loss apiece. Iowa is third with eight victories in 10 games and Wisconsin fourth with a 3-1 score.

Other two-game series sent Wisconsin to Chicago, Michigan to Illinois, Purdue to Northwestern and Indiana to Minnesota.

NEW OPEN GOLF TOURNEY ASSURED BY 446 ENTRIES

NEW YORK.—(P)—Enough entries for the Hale America National Open Golf tournament have been received to boost the total to 446 and Joe Dey, executive secretary of the USGA, predicted there would be 1000 contestants by the time the books close tomorrow.

OLD THEORIES WON'T STAND UP AGAINST BROOKS

Dodger Sluggers Playing No Favorites . . . Southpaws Can't Stop Them

By JUDSON BAILEY

(By The Associated Press)
The Brooklyn Dodgers have most of their power concentrated in left-handed batters—Dolph Cammille, Pete Reiser, Dixie Walker and Arky Vaughan—and some of their rivals figured the National League champions could be stopped this season by southpaw pitching.

This is just one more theory that has been shattered by the Flatbush Follies, who have succeeded in beating the last five left-handers sent against them and now have a record for the season of eight victories and five defeats by posturiers.

Yesterday they routed Lefty Aldon Wilkie with five runs in three innings and battled on to a 7-4 triumph over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

By capturing the first session of their three-game series, the Dodgers increased their margin to 3 1/2 games and destroyed any hopes the Buccaneers may have had of grabbing the National League lead in Brooklyn.

Tables Turned on Reds

The New York Giants gave the Cincinnati Reds a taste of their own medicine by scoring 10 runs in the eighth inning to win 12-6 and ease the sting of the 12-run inning which the Reds staged against New York May 4.

In the only other National League game Big Bill Lee of the Chicago Cubs added more proof to the supposition that he is making a big comeback by pitching a seven-hit 5-3 victory over the Phils. It was Lee's fifth triumph. The Bruins themselves made only eight hits off Rube Melton and Bill Naylor.

American League

Action in the American League was confined to two games.

The Chicago White Sox halted the five-game winning streak of the Philadelphia Athletics 9-4.

The A's made four errors in four runs with three singles.

John Niggeling pitched six-hit ball and Roy Cullenbine and Chet Laabs hit home runs as the St. Louis Browns beat the Boston Red Sox 6-3.

Lions Leading, 4-0, As Rain Ends Game With South Salem

The Washington C. H. High School baseballers had a 4 run lead over the Ross County champions, the boys from South Salem when the rain interfered and the game ended abruptly after 3 1/2 innings of play. Because of the small number of innings, the game could not be tallied as a win. The Lions had come up to bat for the third time when the rain came. The whole game was played under low hanging, black clouds. The score at the end of the 3 1/2 innings was Washington C. H. 4, South Salem, 0. The Salem boys in their first inning went down in order, while the Lions, in their half, batted a complete round. In the second inning, the boys from South Salem went down in order again, downed by the pitching of Stan Mark, who was on the mound for the Lions. The Lions scored 4 runs and got 3 hits from the Ross County champion's pitcher, Bill Anderson, in the first inning. However, the second brought no results for either team. The last half of the third, while the Lions were at bat, Johnson came up and struck out, one of the three that Anderson allowed. Mark also struck out. Allen and Tillett then came up for WHS and both got hits. When it started raining they were on third and second bases, but never got a chance to score.

Had the visiting team got to the field earlier, the necessary 4 1/2 innings might have been played and had given the WHS boys another victory to add to their fast growing list. However, they didn't arrive until about 4:45 P. M. The game was to have started at 4:30.

The team, two substitutes and the coach made the trip in one car.

The Reds sewed up yesterday's game early but the Giants won it, 12 to 6, mainly because they erupted all over the lot with ten runs in the eighth inning. Elmer Riddle, Joe Beggs, Bucky Walters, and Clyde Shoun were the victims in general.

Bucks Are in Line For Big Ten Title

EVANSTON, Ill., May 15.—(P)—Basing team strength solely on best recorded performances of the season, Ohio State has a chance of claiming 58 points tomorrow to win the Big Ten track and field championship.

On the same basis, Michigan would get 37 1/2, Illinois 27, Indiana 23 1/2, and Minnesota 21.

If the Buckeyes continue in the same stride which carried them to the indoor title and to seven of a possible 14 top performances of the season, they should walk to their first Big Ten outdoor championship.

It is the prime food need of America's Allies.

Senator McNary (R-Ore), minority leader and an important member of the bi-partisan farm bloc as a wheat area senator, quietly got the Senate to delay any action on the surplus grain provision until Monday after debate on the farm bill opened yesterday.

Meanwhile numerous other controversial items awaited Senate decision, including substantial increases made by the Senate appropriations committee in funds for the various aid programs for low income farmers handled by the Farm Security Administration.

ing purposes under an agreement with Agriculture Department officials that these sales would not be used to force corn prices below 85 percent of parity, the level of past government corn loans. The farm groups were said to be opposing this action.

The Agriculture Department has warned that grain production must be curtailed because of crowded storage facilities, a limited foreign market, and lack of shipping space. It seeks to turn some grain acreage to meat production because meat requires less shipping space for the food value involved and because

Sunfrocks and Boleros

By ANNE ADAMS
"Time out for play!" says Anne Adams Pattern 4097. The girdled young sunfrocks has a smart back buttoning that's convenient for speedy dressing and ironing. The bolero may be added to make a street costume.
Pattern 4097 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16, dress, takes 2 5-8 yards 35 inch fabric; bolero, 1 yard contrast.
Send FIFTEEN CENTS (plus ONE CENT to cover cost of mailing) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STLYE NUMBER.
Join the 1942 Style Parade and send TEN CENTS for a Spring Pattern Book! All the season's highlights are here in day and evening frocks, sportswear, defense modes.
Send your order to Record-Herald Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York, N. Y.
